

It is becoming increasingly expensive to keep museums open to public. What do you think is the best way of funding them (e.g. government, businesses or individuals)?

首先确定这是雅思写作中的 argument 题型。

(1) Museums are normally regarded as a place where people can enrich their cultural lives, but nowadays many museums experience financial difficulties. I reckon that the best solution is that different museums should have different institutions to fund them.

这一段是文章的介绍段(introduction)，正式写作的介绍段应包含背景介绍+话题引入+自己观点。对比你的介绍段，你的内容完整，基本是符合要求的。以下介绍段供参考：

These days, museum is at the heart of communities, preserving essential local and national stories, which rewards visitors with fresh ideas. However, over the past years, one museum after another across the country has cut back on their business hours, staff and their salaries since it is increasingly expensive to fund them and maintain them accessible to the general public. Therefore, whether the funding comes from the government or other sources is controversial. In my opinion, governments, companies and individuals should make a joint effort to keep those museums.

(1)注意数的一致：museum is normally regarded as a place....

Some museums of great significance, such as history museums and war museums, can be funded by the government because (2) this kind of museums exhibits many artefacts and historical items, (3) which are connections to the past and these museums need to be run even if (4) it loses money. This kind of museums is sometimes a possible option for those who want to spend a nice weekend with family because parents intend to help their children deepen their understanding of what happened in the past and develop a sense of identity. If there are not these museums in a country, people of this country may not have cohesion.

(2) 前面你举了两个例子，参考表达: those kinds of museums+谓语复数 exhibit.

(3) 这里是限制性定语从句，不需要用逗号隔开，删去。

(4) 注意数的一致，参考表达：they may cost much money.

Some companies can invest in museums which have some market value because these museums can be self-sufficient. This means that these museums can run, even without governments funding. Companies (5) have experience in cope with market changes and profitability, and these experiences can be used in the operation of these museums. For example, space museums are often faced with financial difficulties and weak ability to cope with the market, resulting in operational difficulties. If some spaceflight companies can invest in space museums, these museums can hold regular lectures on youth aerospace knowledge and produce some space models for sale to aviation model enthusiasts in order to become self-sufficient with the help of investment firms.

(5) 介词后动词 ing 形式，参考表达：have experience in coping with...

By the provision of personal financial support, these museums which (6) are unlikely to sponsored by some companies can have some admission fees. For example, some people like art exhibitions, and they can fund these art museums by buying tickets. So these art museums get some daily working capital to keep going. (7) Personal invent in these museums can reduce governments financial pressure. As a consequence, (8) government funds can be used in essential services and infrastructures. (9) By doing this not only improve the people's living standards but also maintain the operation of these museums.

这一段是文章的总结段(conclusion), 正式写作中的 conclusion 段应包含前文总结+观点重申。对比你的总结，适当总结前文内容即可，个别内容不够切题。以下总结段供参考：

In conclusion, governments play an essential role in helping the running and maintenance of local museums while companies' investment can also make great contributions to museums' development. Thus, I believe governments as well as companies ought to take its responsibility respectively.

批注 [1]: 介词多余，建议删去。

(6) 注意表达准确性 : be likely/ unlikely to do sth. 这里参考 : which are unlikely to be sponsored by...

(7) 形容词修饰名词 , 参考表达 : personal investment.

(8) 这里应该用所属格 : government's funds.

(9) 句子表达不通顺 , 参考 : in this way, it can not only improve...but also...
